

BUSINESS TRANSFORMATION ANALYSTS/CONSULTANTS (m/f)

Who we are

Papilium is a management consulting firm, defining and running complex strategic business transformation projects at top (inter)national companies:

- We derive the key question hampering substantial cash flow improvements – the better the question, the better the answer
- We leverage disparate sources of data and emotions, leading to breakthrough hypothesis for improvements – (big) data analytics connected to (big) value
- We refine client' business models underpinned with innovative distinct capabilities to surge income statements – committing to ambitious design
- We engage all stakeholders along the best transformation path to deliver and secure agreed value – understanding, teasing, committing, acting to deliver value

Your role

- You conduct profound analytical studies to validate the relevancy of a series of hypotheses.
- You model scenarios and create distinct organisational capabilities based on solid business cases.
- You conduct client specific studies and participate in / organise workshops.
